

Join us for a workshop on successfully facilitating Bodyswaps in your teaching, featuring the co-creators of the transformative “Let’s Talk About Race” interactive virtual learning experience.

Tuesday, October 22nd 2024 | 9AM to 12:30 PM

Register here

<https://forms.office.com/r/9EEypCE0xb>

9 – 11:00	Experience a facilitated session with pre-briefing and debriefing meaning-making of the “Let’s Talk About Race” module
11:15 - 12:30	‘Train-the-Trainer’ and faculty strategies for successfully teaching with Bodyswaps

Venue

Conestoga Doon Campus, Room 241
in the Welcome Centre (Guild Room)

Events

9: 00 – 11:00

Experience a facilitated session with pre- briefing and debriefing meaning-making of the “Let’s Talk About Race” module

11:15 - 12:30

‘Train-the-Trainer’ and faculty strategies for successfully teaching with Bodyswaps

Charlene Dunstan

Professor & Coordinator, George Brown College

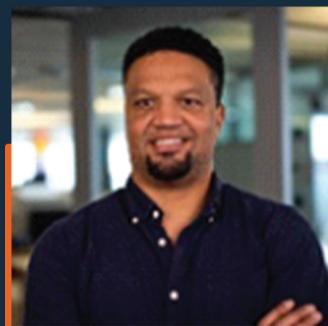

Charlene is a professor and coordinator in the Social Service Program at George Brown College. Over the past 20 years Charlene held a variety of roles working with low-income, marginalized, chronically homeless, and street-involved women. Charlene has served as AGM Ombudsman for Amnesty International Canada, trained as a union human rights race-based complaints employee support, content advisor for the VR simulation Lets Talk About Race, and is a member of The Toronto District School Boards Equity Policy Community Advisory Committee.

Gail
Hunter

Professor & Coordinator of Early child education
George Brown College

Gail Hunter, has been a Professor and Coordinator of Early Child Education at George Brown College for 33 years. In addition to this, she taught and worked as an Early Childhood Educator, Supervisor, and Early Childhood Advisor with the Toronto Board of Education. In 1989 Gail began her journey of presenting on Anti-Bias Education, in 2018 she was called on to develop Anti-Racism and Anti-Oppression courses and workshop modules for the Education sector locally and nationally.

Michael Avis

President, Tapvigo Solutions | VR Soft Skills Training, Immersive Educator (Bodyswaps Affiliate)

Michael has worked in the educational sector for over twenty years and has taught domestically and internationally at the primary, secondary, college, and university levels. He has a Bachelor of Education from the University of Toronto in the Centre for Urban Schooling. His area of study was in the inner-city education program with a commitment to exploring issues of equity and social justice, integrating research-based theory and practice, and advocating change for students traditionally underserved by the system. Michael is an international speaker on educational technology and an